Door hardware can be a small portion of a project but can be complicated to get it right. We will review the basics for selecting hardware including closers, exit devices and other common hardware. We will discuss the codes that influence our choices and the available resources to make sure we have access to the right information. We will also explore new trends in hardware and tips for avoiding common mistakes.

- Basic Codes for hardware
- Door control basics
- Coordinating electrified hardware
- Common punch list items
- Security indication and other new trends
